COLLECTIONS

We manage a collection of about 1.2 million items, including books, journals, and other library materials.

We offer tailored library services for different fields and subjects, and some of our collections are unique not only nationally but also internationally.

Many of our Faculty libraries preserve the books, papers, and collections of former professors and renowned scholars. Among our museum treasures, you can also find their private libraries, as well as original prints and manuscripts that are unique worldwide.

REGISTRATION

All ELTE students and staff can use the libraries free of charge – you just need to register, either in person or online.

Since each library has its own rules, you'll need to register separately for each one.

Some libraries offer online registration here:

USE LIBRARIES

The reading rooms in all libraries are open for everyone to use.

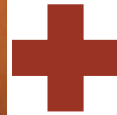

However, you can only borrow books from some of the libraries.
